

MORGAN HRINKEVICH

mo hrinkevich@gmail.com

(817) 727-3537

PROFILE

Detail-oriented professional with a background in biology, medical research, and patient-focused clinical roles. Experienced in male reproductive health, laboratory support, and assisting in high-volume clinical environments. Strong foundation in research and data analysis, paired with excellent interpersonal and communication skills. Actively seeking remote or part-time opportunities in medical aesthetics, healthcare support, or life sciences.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

❖ Andrologist, Austin Fertility and Reproductive Medicine May 2024 - Jan 2025

Skilled andrologist with experience in diagnosing and treating male reproductive health conditions.

Proficient in semen analysis, sperm processing for assisted reproductive technologies, and cryopreservation.

❖ Lab Assistant, Amack Lab at Upstate Medical Jan 2021 - May 2022

Worked on a senior thesis that looked at defects in the Tmbim4 gene. Looked specifically at how this gene affects heart symmetry.

Researched the cause of congenital heart failure.

❖ Student Intern, All Star Orthopaedics Mar 2018 - May 2018

Shadowed Dr. Tsay, an orthopedic surgeon.

Experienced the inside of an operating room during surgery.

Saw multiple procedures such as a total hip replacement and an ACL repair.

❖ Student Intern, The Center for Cancer and Blood Disorders Jan 2018 - Mar 2018

Shadowed Dr. Mansoor, a medical oncologist and hematologist.

Encountered patients with a variety of disorders and developed an interest into what causes these diseases.

Experienced a broad range disorders and different treatment options.

❖ Summer Intern, UT Southwestern Jun 2017 - Aug 2017

Shadowed the Director of the Emergency Department, Dr. Piel.

Received a first hand look at the schedule of an ER doctor.

Interacted with patients and observed procedures.

EDUCATION

❖ Syracuse University Aug 2018 — May 2022

BS in Biology and Art History minor

Graduated Magna Cum Laude

❖ Syracuse University Aug 2022 — May 2024

MS in Applied Statistics